To Whom it May Concern,

Iva Boishin has been interning at Washington revels for the past 4 months. She has been a wonderful intern, and has met and exceeded our expectations on every level.

She has been a consistently positive and mature presence in our office. She has not only completed work in timely and efficient ways, she has gone beyond the tasks, bringing new ideas and insights, and producing work that brings more to the project than what had been asked of her.

Iva is always on time, is responsible and communicative, and takes her work seriously. At the same time, she brings a spark of energy and joy to all she does, and infuses the projects with humor and enthusiasm. She is also very bright, and seems to bring a wisdom deeper than her years.

Specifically, Iva has been adept at all sorts of projects, from database work to social media to marketing to visual and creative projects and to research. She has a quick mind and she is thoughtful and careful. She is clearly a young woman who stands out, and who is on her way to make great contributions to whatever communities are lucky enough to engage her.

I would accept or hire Iva into any program or position without hesitation.

Sincerely,

Jo Rasi
